Instructions & Checklist

Revoking an Anatomical Gift (Organ Donation Revocation)

- Following these instructions, you will find a Revocation of Anatomical Gift form.
- A donor may amend or revoke an anatomical gift, not made by will, only by:
  - A signed statement;
  - An oral statement made in the presence of two individuals;
  - Any form of communication during a terminal illness or injury addressed to a physician or surgeon; or
  - The delivery of a signed statement to a specified donee to whom a document of gift had been delivered.
- An anatomical gift that is not revoked by the donor before death is irrevocable and does not require the consent or concurrence of any person after the donor's death.
- Complete the information requested.
- When you have completed the form and printed it, sign the form and make certain that you store the original where you had stored the original of your Anatomical Gift. You may choose to have the form notarized.
- You should also make certain that a copy of any revocation is provided to anyone who has a copy of your original Anatomical Gift, including any designated donees.
- You should also then destroy the original and all copies of your Anatomical Gift or cross out each page of the forms and mark "REVOKED" across them in bold print.
- Although most states have adopted the Uniform Anatomical Gift Act, you should check the laws of your state to determine whether there are any other requirements you must meet to revoke your Anatomical Gift.

General Information

Revoking an Anatomical Gift (Organ Donation Revocation)

You prepared a written Anatomical Gift, but now because of a change of circumstances or a change of heart, you want to revoke the document. Until your death, it is your right to revoke your Anatomical Gift at any time.

This kit provides tools and guidelines to assist you in revoking your Anatomical Gift and is designed to fulfill the requirements of the Uniform Anatomical Gift Act.
